DRUG ABUSE PREVENTION: A GUIDE TO SPEAKERS

This guide is intended as a resource for persons requiring information on speaker's bureaus throughout the country. The information contained in this guide is derived from the National Clearinghouse for Drug Abuse Information National Inventory of Drug Abuse Programs, which is part of a comprehensive computerized information-retrieval system covering the field of drug abuse. The information is obtained by contacting drug abuse programs to request pertinent information and materials which describe the services and functions of the program. The program responds by providing pamphlets, reports, narrative statements or audiovisual materials which are used by the Clearinghouse to prepare program descriptions. No attempt at evaluation or assessment of program effectiveness is made.

Each program contacted is specifically asked whether it maintains a current speaker's bureau. This guide reflects only those drug abuse programs, which have been brought to the attention of the Clearinghouse, and which have reported an active speaker's bureau. The guide, therefore, is not necessarily comprehensive for the Nation. The Clearinghouse would appreciate receiving names and addresses of additional programs as well as corrections for those listed. This information will be used to update this directory and will also serve as input into the NIDAP data base. Please address all correspondence to: National Clearinghouse for Drug Abuse Information, Program Information Services--Dept. MEK, Room 8C-09, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, Maryland 20852.

This guide provides identifying data on programs, including program director, program name, address, and telephone number. It is intended that persons using this guide contact directly the programs which are of interest in order to make the necessary arrangements for speaking engagements.

The inclusion of programs in this guide does not represent endorsement of either the program or its speaker's bureau. The guide only intends to provide leads to local and community resources for individuals involved in the field of drug abuse prevention.
